Primus Partners, the management consulting firm, announced the appointment of Sunita Mohanty as Managing Director in its Public Policy vertical. In this role, she will work closely with governments, regulators, and global institutions to help shape policies that drive sustainable growth and citizen impact.

With more than two decades of experience at the intersection of technology, governance, and public service, Ms. Mohanty has dedicated her career to building safer digital ecosystems and strengthening India's global economic engagement.

At Invest India, she most recently led India's presence at the World Economic Forum 2025 in Davos, opening doors for new investment opportunities and strategic partnerships. Earlier, at Google, she was instrumental in building India's Trust & Safety operations, pioneering initiatives around user protection, child safety, and election integrity.

Commenting on the appointment, Nilaya Varma, Co-Founder & CEO, Primus Partners, said, "We are excited to welcome Sunita to the Primus leadership team. Her unique experience at the crossroads of technology, governance and public policy will add immense value as we expand our work with governments and institutions. With her joining us, we are confident of deepening our impact and creating innovative solutions for some of the most pressing policy challenges."

Sunita Mohanty said, "I am truly delighted to join Primus Partners. The firm's vision of shaping impactful public policy resonates deeply with my own journey, and I look forward to working with the team to co-create solutions that matter. It's an exciting new chapter, and I can't wait to get started."

Her appointment reflects Primus Partners' commitment to nurturing leadership that combines policy expertise with a deep understanding of people, technology, and the evolving role of governance in everyday lives.
